County Purchasing Land

A start to long-term County goals.

“After an external audit was conducted earlier this year of the County of Stettler No. 6 Public Works Shop which was built in 1969, Council determined it was time to replace the Public Works Shop,” said Tim Fox, CAO for the County of Stettler.

In February, Council approved the purchase of self-contained modular office units to house Public Works administratively, as a temporary solution. At the same time, Council directed the County to start looking for land appropriate for County operations. Temporary office modules have recently been brought in to the existing County site to house Public Works office staff.

The County of Stettler No. 6 has an agreement to purchase land that was identified as being able to meet the County’s future needs. Furthermore, Council has begun investigating and considering the economies of scale for a future complex to house all County operations.
